1 INTRODUCTION

The Board of Directors of Tambla Limited has adopted this Code of Conduct (the "Code") in accordance with the requirements of the Australian Securities and Investment Commission (ASIC). The purpose of the Code is to:

- Promote honest and ethical conduct, including fair dealing and the proactive evaluation and handling of actual and apparent conflicts of interest;
- Promote full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure in reports and documents that are filed with, or submitted to ASIC and in other public communications;
- Ensure compliance with applicable laws and governmental rules and regulations;
- Ensure the protection of the Company's business interests, including corporate opportunities, assets and confidential information; and
- Encourage reporting of illegal and unethical behaviour, and deter wrong doing.

2 PURPOSE

The Tambla Code of Conduct outlines the principles, policies and laws that govern the activities of the Company, and to which its employees and others who work with, or represent the Company directly or indirectly, must adhere. All employees and representatives of Tambla, its subsidiaries and their affiliates ("Tambla") are required to read and follow the Tambla Code of Conduct.

3 APPLICABLE TO ALL EMPLOYEES AND REPRESENTATIVES OF TAMBLA

This Code of Conduct applies to Tambla Limited, its subsidiaries and affiliates ("Tambla" or "the Company") and to all Tambla representatives, including its directors, employees, temporary workers, independent contractors and consultants. It is each individual's responsibility to become familiar with these policies and any supplemental policies applicable to the individual's respective business unit.

Tambla expects all of its representatives to act in accordance with the highest standards of personal and professional integrity in all aspects of their activities and to comply with all applicable laws, regulations and company policies. Individuals must never compromise that integrity, either for personal benefit or for Tambla's purported benefit.

In accepting a position with Tambla or any of its subsidiaries, each individual becomes accountable for compliance with the law, with this Code of Conduct and with the policies of the Company and its respective business units.

If you have any questions about these policies or about any supplemental policies, you should discuss them with your manager, the head of your business unit or one of the Compliance Officers listed at the back of this Code.

If there appears to be a conflict between this Code and local laws, or if you have questions regarding the interpretation of applicable laws, you should contact one of the people identified above.

If a law conflicts with the Code, the Company will follow the law. If a local custom or practice conflicts with this Code, the Company will follow the Code.

Any waiver of this Code for employees, executive officers or directors may be made only by the Board of Directors and must be disclosed promptly.

Tambla expects each representative of the Company to act in full compliance with the policies set forth in this Code and in a manner consistent with the highest ethical standards. Failure to observe these policies may result in disciplinary action, up to and including immediate termination of employment or other relationship with Tambla.

Furthermore, violations of this Code may also be violations of the law and may result in civil or criminal penalties for you, your manager and/or Tambla.

The Code affirms the Company's position concerning compliance with laws and adherence to ethical business practices, and can be found on Tambla's website at <http://www.tambla.com.au>.

This Code does not cover all laws or Company policies.

This Code may be updated at any time at the sole discretion of the Tambla Board of Directors. Any change to this Code shall be promptly disclosed to the public on Tambla's website.

All directors, officers and employees of the Company are expected to be familiar with the Code and to adhere to those principles and procedures set forth in the Code.

This Code of Conduct neither constitutes, nor should be construed to constitute, a contract of employment for a definite term or a guarantee of continued employment

4 HONEST AND ETHICAL CONDUCT

The Code outlines the expected behaviours of employees and supplements your Employment Contract. The Code itself is not intended in any way to constitute a contract of employment.

Each director, officer and employee agrees to the following:

4.1 Conduct themselves with integrity:

- Use their best abilities and knowledge to perform their assigned duties.
- Uphold the reputation and good will of Tambla.
- Use Tambla information, equipment and facilities and financial resources properly and economically for the purpose they are provided for.
- Act within their level of authority and maintain accountability.

4.2 Perform their duties diligently and conscientiously:

- Carry out official duties to the best of their ability, faithfully and impartially in accordance with policies and procedures.
- Strive to remain at the forefront of their area of expertise.
- Act in the best interests of Tambla.
- Take action to prevent unethical practices through appropriate mechanisms.
- Ensure "public comment" is authorised and adheres to the relevant policy.
- Protect privacy and confidentiality.
- Maintain records to support effective decision-making.
- Prevent accidents and injuries in the workplace by acting in accordance with occupational health and safety laws and policies.
- Adhere to the Company's Alcohol and Other Drugs policy.

4.3 Act impartially:

- Demonstrate professional and ethical judgement.
- Give due credit to the contributions of others.
- Make decisions fairly and without bias, based on consideration of all the relevant information.
- Involve people in decisions that affect them, wherever possible.
- Encourage scholarly research, learning and teaching without favour.

4.4 Ensure equity and fairness:

- Ensure equality of opportunity for all members of Tambla.
- Behave in a professional and responsive manner.
- Meet their duty of care to members and staff and minimise difficulties resulting from the power imbalance inherent in these relationships.
- Treat others with respect, courtesy and responsiveness.
- Maintain a cooperative and collaborative approach to working relationships.
- Avoid bullying, offending, intimidations or humiliating others.
- Assist in dispute resolution and grievance processes.
- Avoid conflicts of interests.

5 CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

All employees must avoid conflicts of interest. When at work, employees shall act in Tambla's interests and not in a manner designed primarily to gain unfair advantage for themselves or other individuals.

A conflict of interest exists when an employee's personal or family activities or financial affairs adversely influence the judgment or loyalty required for the performance of one's duties to Tambla.

Staff must ensure that there are no real or apparent conflicts of interest in all matters relevant to employment, including (without limitations):

- The misuse of position or influence to further personal, sexual and financial relationships, whether with other staff, members or the community;
- Receipt of gifts or entertainment (also see further below);
- External, private work including secondary employment board memberships, working for another organisation, or conducting a business, without prior written permission of the Managing Director.
- Misuse of financial information; and
- Contracting or other business relationship with family members or associates or any other organisation that may result in a personal benefit to the employee at Tambla expense, or that may influence the employee's decision on matters involving Tambla and the outside business organisation.

Employees involved in tendering or contracting processes must not engage in any action that may give rise to an expectation of some favoured treatment given to or received from a party involved in that tendering or contracting process.

If a staff member believes a conflict of interest exists the staff member needs to act quickly and appropriately to remove that conflict. This may include:

- Disclosing the conflict of interest with a relevant manager or person and obtaining approval to continue with involvement in the situation; and
- Withdrawing from involvement in the situation that gives rise to the conflict.

For the purpose of this provision, "outside business organisation" means any person, partnership, firm corporation or other entity that supplies (or seeks to supply) any goods or services to Tambla, or that transacts (or seeks to transact) any business which will result in payment from or to Tambla. Following is a list of actions, which constitutes either the appearance of a conflict of interest or an actual conflict of interest. The list is not intended to be comprehensive, but merely a guide to assist you in identifying situations, which may give rise to a conflict of interest:

- The use of non-public Tambla or customer information to advance an employee's personal or financial interests, or the interests, or friends, "Family" includes an employee's spouse, parents, children, siblings, mothers and fathers-in-law, sons and daughters-in-law, and brothers and sisters-in-law and any other person living in the employee's household;
- Ownership, either directly or through any intermediary, of any outside business organisation by employees or their family;
- Acceptance by any employee or family member from any outside business organisation of gifts of more than $50.00 in value, of excessive entertainment or substantial favours, or of any compensation, commissions, fees or travel or lodging expenses. An employee should not provide gifts,
  - entertainment or anything else of value to representatives of outside business organisations in violation of those organisations' policies. Any questions concerning this policy should be directed to your supervisor;

- Acceptance by any employee of an offer to serve as an officer, director, partner, consultant, employee or agent of any outside business organisation;
- Borrowing money from any outside business organisation, except loans or advances from banks or other bona fide financial institutions that are offered at prevailing commercial rates and lending standards;
- Making referrals to any outside company, business entity or person who provides goods or services of any type that are available through or from Tambla;
- Making referrals to any outside company, business entity or person to provide goods or services of any type to Tambla, if the referring person or his or her family has an interest in the referred entity, or if the referring party knows or reasonably should know that another employee or an employee's family has an interest in the referred entity; and
- Investment by any employee or family member in any outside business organisation if such investment would result in the employee or family member having the ability or opportunity to influence transactions between Tambla and the outside business organisation, or an investment in any competitor of Tambla. Passive investments in publicly traded companies shall not be deemed a violation of this section if you or your family member owns less than 5% of such companies publicly traded stock.

6 RELATED BUSINESS PARTY DEALINGS

You must notify your supervisor of any business relationship or proposed business transaction Tambla may have with any company in which you or a related party has a direct or indirect interest or from which you or a related party may derive a benefit, or where a related party member is employed, if such a relationship or transaction might give rise to the appearance of a conflict of interest (for example, if you or a family member owns or controls property of significant value that Tambla is either purchasing or leasing). This requirement generally does not apply if the interest exists solely as a result of your ownership of less than 5% of the outstanding publicly traded equity securities of such company.

7 PUBLIC DISCLOSURE

It is the Company's policy that the information in its public communications, including ASIC filings, be full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable. All directors, officers and employees who are involved in the Company's disclosure process are responsible for acting in furtherance of this policy. In particular, the Directors, the Managing Director, the Chief Financial Officer and the Company Secretary are required to maintain familiarity with the disclosure requirements applicable to the Company.

All directors, officers and employees are prohibited from knowingly misrepresenting, omitting or causing others to misrepresent or omit, material facts about the Company to others, whether within or outside the Company, including the Company's independent auditors. In addition, each director, officer or employee who has a supervisory role in the Company's disclosure process has an obligation to discharge his or her responsibilities diligently and in accordance with the Company's policy on continuous disclosure.

The Chairman, Board of Directors, the Managing Director and the Company Secretary are designated as Disclosure Officers who are responsible for reviewing potential disclosures and deciding what information should be disclosed. Only the Disclosure Officers may authorise communication on behalf of the Company to the media, analysts and investors.

8 MEDIA, PUBLISHING AND PUBLIC APPEARANCES

Tambla has issued guidelines to ensure that employees do not violate public disclosure requirements when communicating with investors, analysts or the press. To ensure compliance with these guidelines, employees should consult with the Managing Director prior to arranging or participating in any investor or analyst meetings.

Before publishing, making speeches, giving interviews or making public appearances that are connected to Tambla' business interests, you must obtain approval from the Managing Director.

If a publication, speech, interview or appearance might in any way be connected to your position with Tambla, you must notify the Managing Director.

All inquiries from the media relating to Tambla should be referred to the Managing Director. Only officially designated spokespersons may provide comments for the media.

9 COMPLIANCE

It is the Company's policy to comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations. It is the personal responsibility of each director, officer and employee to adhere to the standards and restrictions imposed by those laws, rules and regulations in the performance of his or her duties for the Company, including those relating to accounting and auditing matters and insider trading.

10 CORPORATE OPPORTUNITIES

Directors, officers and employees owe a duty to the Company to advance its legitimate interests when the opportunity to do so arises. Directors, officers and employees are prohibited from taking (or directing a third party to take) a business opportunity that is discovered through the use of Company property, information or position, unless the Company has already been offered the opportunity and turned it down. Directors, officers and employees are also prohibited from using Company property, information, or their position for personal gain, or from competing against the Company.

11 PROPRIETARY AND CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Whilst working for Tambla and continuing after you cease your employment or association with Tambla, you must protect the confidentiality of non-public information you obtain or create in connection with your activities for Tambla. You must not disclose proprietary or confidential information about Tambla or its employees, or confidential information about a customer, supplier or distributor, to anyone (including other Tambla personnel) who is not authorised to receive it or has no need to know the information. The only exceptions are when such disclosure is authorised by the customer, supplier or distributor, or by applicable law (e.g., to supervisory regulators), appropriate legal process (e.g., subpoena) or appropriate Tambla authorities.

Examples of proprietary and confidential information include:

- Fraud, misappropriation, theft, embezzlement and bribery;
- any system, information or process that gives Tambla an opportunity to obtain an advantage over our competitors;
- non-public information about Tambla' operations, results, strategies and projections;
- non-public information about Tambla' business plans, business processes and client relationships;

- non-public employee information;
- non-public information received in the course of your employment about customers, suppliers and distributors; and
- non-public information about Tambla' technology, systems and proprietary products.

You must take precautionary measures to prevent unauthorised disclosure of proprietary and confidential information. Accordingly, you should also take steps to ensure that business-related paperwork and documents are produced, copied, faxed, filed, stored and discarded by means designed to minimise the risk that unauthorised persons might obtain access to proprietary or confidential information. You should also ensure that access to work areas and computers is properly controlled. You should not discuss sensitive matters or confidential information in public places such as elevators, hallways, restaurants, restrooms and public transportation.

12 PRIVACY OF CUSTOMER INFORMATION AND DATA PROTECTION

Our most important asset is our customers' trust. Keeping customer information secure and using it appropriately is therefore a top priority for all of us at Tambla. You must safeguard any confidential information our customers share with us. You must also ensure that we use customer information only for the reasons for which the information was gathered.

13 FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND STATUTORY REPORTING

It is Tambla policy that each of the reports and documents it files with or submits to any statutory bodies, and each of the other public communications it makes ("Public Disclosures") contain full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure. To the extent not already reported, employees with such knowledge must report any of the following deficiencies ("Disclosure Deficiencies") to your supervisor:

- Financial statements that are to be included in a Public Disclosure that:
  - are not prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles;
  - are not prepared in accordance with Tambla most recent accounting practices; or
  - do not fairly or accurately present the financial condition, results of operations and cash flows of the applicable division or of Tambla as a whole.
- Any untrue statement of a material fact or an omission of a material fact necessary to make the statement not misleading that is to be included in a Public Disclosure;
- Any material inadequacies in Tambla internal controls or disclosure controls;
- Any fraud, whether or not material, involving management or other employees who have a role in Tambla internal controls; and
- Any attempt to mislead, coerce, manipulate or exert improper or fraudulent influence over the Auditor of Tambla's financial statements for the purpose of rendering those financial statements materially misleading.

Any Tambla employee that knowingly causes or facilitates a Disclosure Deficiency will be deemed to be in violation of this Code.

Tambla employees are each responsible for implementing this policy by maintaining accurate records and reporting Disclosure Deficiencies, as required above and to the level of expectations required in job role and descriptions. To the extent not already reported, employees with knowledge of any lawsuits, governmental investigations, material demand letters, claims, complaints, investigations or other potential material legal, regulatory or loss contingencies pending or asserted against Tambla must report such information to their supervisor immediately.

In order to ensure proper financial reporting, all Tambla sales contracts must be executed by an authorised official of Tambla and an authorised official of the customer and in accordance with any other legal sign off. All sales contracts or related documentation must contain the full and complete agreement between Tambla and the customer. Side-letters, verbal commitments or agreements, and kickbacks with customers or potential customers are prohibited.

14 ACCURACY OF RECORDS AND RECORDING

The records, data and information owned, collected, used and managed by Tambla must be accurate and complete. You are personally responsible for the integrity of the information, reports and records under your control. Records must be maintained in sufficient detail as to reflect accurately all Tambla transactions. Financial statements must always be prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and fairly present, in all material respects, Tambla' financial condition and results. You must use common sense and observe standards of good taste regarding content and language when creating business records and other documents (such as email) that may be retained by Tambla or a third party. You should keep in mind that at a future date, Tambla or a third party may be in a position to rely on or interpret the document with the benefit of hindsight and/or the disadvantage of imperfect recollections. Individual business units have policies relevant to retention of records; records should be retained in accordance with the policies. You are prohibited from destroying any records that are potentially relevant to a violation of law or any litigation or any pending, threatened or foreseeable government investigation or proceeding. Tambla is also committed to accuracy in tax-related records, and to tax reporting in compliance with the overall intent and letter of applicable laws. Tax returns must be filed on a timely basis and taxes due paid on time.

15 PRIVACY OF EMPLOYEE INFORMATION

Tambla recognises and protects the privacy and confidentiality of employee medical and personnel records. Such records must not be shared or discussed outside Tambla, except as authorised by the employee or as required by law, rule, and regulation or a subpoena or order issued by a court of competent jurisdiction or requested by a judicial, administrative or legislative body. Requests for such records from anyone outside Tambla under any other circumstances must be approved by the Managing Director.

16 FAIR EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES AND DIVERSITY

Tambla believes that diversity in our staff is critical to our success as a global organisation, and we seek to recruit, develop and retain the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool. Advancement at Tambla is based on talent and performance. We are fully committed to equal employment opportunity and compliance with the letter and spirit of the full range of fair employment practices and non-discrimination laws. In addition, retaliation against individuals for raising claims of discrimination or harassment is prohibited.

17 DISCRIMINATION AND HARASSMENT (BULLYING)

Tambla values a work environment where diversity is embraced, and where our employees' differences are valued and respected. We prohibit sexual or any other kind of discrimination, harassment or intimidation, whether committed by or against a supervisor, co-worker, customer, vendor or visitor.

Please refer to Tambla's Harassment, Bullying & Discrimination Policy.

18 DRUG-FREE WORKPLACE

To meet our responsibilities to employees, customers and investors, Tambla must maintain a healthy and productive work environment. Misusing controlled substances or selling, manufacturing, distributing, possessing, using or being under the influence of illegal drugs on the job is prohibited.

Please refer to Tambla's Alcohol and Other Drugs policy.

19 SAFETY IN THE WORKPLACE

The safety of people in the workplace is a primary concern of Tambla. Each of us must comply with all applicable health and safety policies. We maintain compliance with all local and international laws, and internal guidelines have been developed to help maintain secure and healthy work surroundings. Questions about these laws and guidelines should be directed to your supervisor, Chief Financial Officer or to a Compliance Officer.

Please refer to Tambla's Work Health & Safety policy.

20 FAIR DEALING

Tambla has a policy of conducting business in an ethical manner. The Company does not seek competitive advantages through illegal or unethical business practices. Accordingly, each director, officer and employee should endeavour to deal fairly with the Company's customers, suppliers, competitors and employees. No director, officer or employee should take unfair advantage of anyone through manipulation, concealment, abuse of privileged information, misrepresentation of material facts, or any unfair-dealing practice.

21 GIVING GIFTS AND PROVIDING ENTERTAINMENT

You must not give a gift if the gift could be seen by others as engaging in bribery or a consideration for an official or business favour. Persons authorised to do so may offer appropriate entertainment to customers, subject to the Company's business expense reimbursement requirements.

Under no circumstances may you offer anything of value to a government official for the purpose of influencing the recipient to take or refrain from taking any official action, or to induce the recipient to conduct business with Tambla.

22 DEALING WITH SUPPLIERS

To make the best use of Tambla' assets and to leverage our buying power with the goal of delivering value to our customers and shareholders, Tambla purchases all goods and services on the basis of price, quality, availability, terms and service. When Tambla deals with other Tambla businesses or customers, such transactions must be consistent with arm's-length market terms and applicable law. Tambla employees responsible for a customer relationship must never lead a supplier or customer to believe that they can inappropriately influence any procurement decisions at Tambla. In connection with offering or pitching business to a supplier or customer, Tambla employees may not offer any "quid pro quo" or suggest that any business or service may be withdrawn or awarded in return for business. Real or perceived conflicts of interest in the procurement process should be disclosed and avoided. Information pertaining to Tambla procurements is subject to Tambla policies regarding proprietary and confidential information. It can be shared internally only with other employees who have been designated by authorised personnel, and should not be communicated outside of Tambla except as authorised. Any communication of information regarding suppliers or vendors must comply with local governmental rules.

23 POLITICAL ACTIVITIES AND CONTRIBUTIONS

You have the right to voluntarily participate in the political process. No one in Tambla may require you to contribute to, support or oppose any political group or candidate. If you choose to participate in the political process, you must do so as an individual, not as a Tambla representative.

You may not work on a political fundraiser or other campaign activity whilst on company time or use Tambla property for these activities. Any overt, visible and partisan political activity that could cause someone to believe that your actions reflect the views or position of Tambla requires the prior approval of the Managing Director.

In some countries, political contributions may be lawful and occasionally expected as a matter of good corporate citizenship. Such contributions should be made only with the written approval of the Managing Director and then only if such contributions are not against local law.

24 PROTECTION AND PROPER USE OF COMPANY PROPERTY

You are responsible for safeguarding the tangible and intangible assets of Tambla and its customers, suppliers and distributors that are under your control. Tambla assets may be used only for proper company purposes. Assets include cash, securities, business plans, customer information, supplier information, distributor information, intellectual property (computer programs, models and other items), physical property and services. Misappropriation of Tambla assets is a breach of your duty to Tambla and may constitute an act of fraud against Tambla. Similarly, carelessness or waste in regard to Tambla assets is also a breach of your duty to Tambla. Tambla's telephone, e-mail, voice-mail and computer systems are for business purposes. You may not use these systems in a manner that could be harmful or embarrassing to Tambla or abuse the privilege of using these systems for personal communications.

All Tambla employees are required to disclose and assign to Tambla all interest in any invention, improvement, discovery or work of authorship you make or conceive that arises out of or in connection with your employment with Tambla. If your employment is terminated, all rights to property and information generated or obtained as part of your employment relationship remain the exclusive property of Tambla. Copying, selling, using or distributing information, software and other forms of intellectual property in violation of license agreements is prohibited.

25 ISSUES

Maintaining ethical standards, including appropriate accounting and internal accounting controls, is the responsibility of every member of the Tambla family. Early identification and resolution of ethical issues that may arise are critical to maintaining our commitment to honest and ethical conduct.

Tambla personnel and other representatives are expected to treat compliance with ethical standards as a critical element of their responsibilities. Although this Code endeavours to address a wide range of business practices and procedures, Tambla cannot anticipate every issue that may arise. If you are unsure of what to do in any situation, you should seek additional guidance and information before you act. You should use your judgment and common sense; if something seems unethical or improper, it probably is.

If you have any questions regarding the best course of action in a particular situation, or if you suspect or become aware of a possible violation of a law, regulation or Tambla ethical standard, you should promptly contact any of the following:

- your supervisor;
- the Head of your business unit;
- a Compliance Officer; or
- the Chief Financial Officer.

Further contact information is provided at the back of this Code, including a list of Compliance Officers. You should feel free to contact either someone in your business unit or someone at the corporate level, whichever you believe is more appropriate. You may choose to remain anonymous. If you raise an ethical issue and you do not believe the issue has been addressed, you should raise it with another of the contacts listed above.

Tambla strongly encourages its personnel and other representatives to raise possible ethical issues. Tambla prohibits any retaliatory action against any individual for raising legitimate concerns or questions regarding ethics, discrimination or harassment matters or for reporting suspected violations.

26 REPORTING ETHICAL ISSUES

Directors, Compliance Officers and executive officers must ensure that the Chairman of the Audit Committee is promptly made aware of any existing or potential violations of laws, rules, regulations or this Code that are brought to their attention.

All other officers or employees must promptly notify a Compliance Officer of any existing or potential violation of laws, rules, regulations or this Code that are brought to their attention.

All reports will be investigated fully.

The Company will not tolerate retaliation, retribution or adverse employment action of any kind against employees who in good faith report suspected violations.

27 FRAUD, MISAPPROPRIATION, THEFT, EMBEZZLEMENT AND BRIBERY

Employees shall not commit, aid or assist in any fraud, misappropriation, theft, embezzlement, bribery or any similar activities. Employees who suspect or have information concerning any such wrongdoing involving Tambla, its employees, any Tambla agent or customer (including customer employees), or anyone doing business with Tambla, must promptly notify his/her supervisor. Prohibited acts include, but are not limited to:

- forgery or alteration of cheques, securities or other negotiable instruments;
- misappropriation of funds, securities or any other assets;
- improper handling or reporting of money or financial transactions;
- improper handling of corporate property, assets or information, or their use for personal gain;
- unauthorised disclosure of corporate business plans, intellectual property, trade secrets or financial information;
- destruction or unauthorised removal of records, furniture, fixtures or equipment;
- fraud for the financial benefit of the corporation, including sales misrepresentation;
- offering, making, soliciting or receiving any bribe, kickback or other unlawful payment, directly or indirectly;
- providing untruthful information to customers regarding prices, capabilities and schedules;
- violating state or foreign tax laws; and
- submitting false expense reimbursement reports.

In addition, employees must not misuse or misappropriate Tambla property or abuse the services or benefits programs available to them. Tambla assets must be used only for proper business purposes and may not be used for personal gain or to benefit persons or entities other than Tambla.

28 INVESTIGATIONS

You are required to cooperate fully with any appropriately authorised internal or external investigations, including but not limited to those involving ethical issues or complaints of discrimination or harassment. Making false statements to or otherwise misleading internal or external auditors, Tambla counsel, Tambla representatives or regulators is grounds for immediate termination of employment or other relationship with Tambla and may also be a criminal act that can result in severe penalties. You must never withhold or fail to communicate information that raises ethical questions and thus should be brought to the attention of higher levels of management. In addition, you are required to report suspected fraud or attempted fraud, and any mysterious disappearance of funds immediately. You may do so by contacting your Supervisor, Manager or any Compliance Officer of the Company.

29 TRANSACTIONS WITH GOVERNMENT

It is Tambla policy to comply with all government laws, regulations and contract provisions. Data submitted to a governmental agency must be truthful and accurate. Deviation from any contract specifications, without prior written government authorisation, is prohibited. Classified information may not be solicited or possessed without government authorisation. Employees must understand and abide by regulations prohibiting them from giving to or receiving from government personnel, directly or indirectly, any entertainment, gifts, gratuities or other business courtesies that might be acceptable in the private sector. All employees whose jobs involve business with the government must know and follow the rules applicable to their jobs. If in doubt, discuss the matter with your supervisor.

PERSONAL COMMITMENT

I acknowledge that I have read the Tambla Limited [Tambla] Code of Conduct and understand my obligations as an employee, or other representatives of Tambla, to comply with the principles, policies and laws outlined in the Code, including any amendments made by Tambla.

I understand that my agreement to comply with the Code of Conduct neither constitutes nor should be construed to constitute either a contract of employment for a definite term or a guarantee of continued employment.
